

TAXICABRAIDER MAN WANTED IN RESORT MURDER

Harry Kovner Identified as
One of Gang in Robbery
Where Man Was Killed.

HIS SIX PALS ESCAPE.

But Five Others in Similar Band Are Caught by Woman's Quick Wit.

When Harry Kovner, alias "Joe Bernstein," alias "Charlie Newman," one of the taxicab raiders of a resort conducted by Mrs. Lillian Stanton in West Thirty-eighth street, was lined up in Police Headquarters today he was not only identified as one of a similar gang who had killed Mrs. Elliott's taxi driver in the Marlborough Apartments in West Fifty-eighth street on Jan. 19, but as the "Charlie Newman" wanted for the murder of Cassimir Balti at No. 25 Stanton street last April.

Detective John Goggin, who has succeeded Billy Sheridan at Police Headquarters as "the man with the camera eye," picked out Kovner as "Charlie Newman" after Mrs. Elliott, two young women who board with her and three young men who had been visitors in her flat on the night of the raid had identified him as one of four burglars who had burst in upon them, threatened them with revolvers and robbed them of $100 worth of jewelry. In this instance the young desperado also came and went in a taxicab.

Victim a Visitor.
The murder of Cassimir Balti occurred in a similar raid at No. 25 Stanton street. Balti was a visitor and was killed. Nicolio Gonzales, another visitor in the Stanton street house, had five bullets shot into him, but recovered.

The police have been hunting for "Charlie Newman" ever since. His photograph has been on file at Police Headquarters since he was sent to Elmira Reformatory in 1906 by Judge Cowan.

Kovner was the only one of seven young thugs who raided the Stanton house and beat and robbed the inmates last night that the police were able to catch. The others got away in their taxicabs before Kovner came out of the house.

There are several young women living with Mrs. Green, and about ten persons, including several young men, were in the parlor at 3 o'clock when the bell rang and three strange men walked in.

One of the men displayed the shield of a Deputy Superintendent of Elections and said he had come to raid the place. Mrs. Green slipped him a $10 bill and said to wait until she got her wraps for the crowd and they would all get out.

Brought Police in Hurry.
She left the room, called up Police Headquarters, and said a gang of robbers were in the house. The West Twenty-ninth street station, only a short distance away, was notified, and Lieut. Powers and several policemen hurried to the house.

In the meantime, according to the story told the police, the three men in the room were holding up the men and women at the point of pistols, and taking money and jewelry from almost every one of them.

By the time the police reached the house the job was complete. The police caught two men outside, evidently "lookouts" for the gang. About this time the three men came out of the house. The police gave chase, and after firing several shots stopped all three. The five gave their names as follows:

William Miller, twenty-two, a plumber, No. 43 East One Hundred and Ninth street.

Paul Bolzano, twenty-three, No. 139 Prince street, a driver, one of the "lookouts."

John Kelley, twenty-one, an ironworker, No. 311 East Fifty-third street.

William Murphy, plumber, twenty-three, No. 22 East Twenty-second street.

Frank Setro, twenty-one, printer, No. 28 East One Hundred and Third street.

Miller, Kelley and Setro all had loaded revolvers, the police say.

This robbery occurred only two hours after one of the most sensational robberies in the history of the city. The Stanton house in West Thirty-ninth street, near Sixth avenue, where hold-up men beat two women, robbed almost a score of men and women and got away with property estimated at $1,600.

Seven in the Gang.
Seven men arrived at the Stanton house in an automobile. The minute the door was opened in response to their ring, they swooped into the hallway and then to the parlor on the second floor.

THE LAND OF MAKE-BE-LEVE No. 1—"THE HERO," By Eleanor Schorer

DETECTIVE JAILED FOR FAILURE TO APPEAR IN COURT

Central Office Man Fined by Judge Malone for Contempt in Delaying Trial.

Central Office Detective Thomas F. Cleary was sent to the Tombs today by Judge Malone when he failed to pay a fine of $50 which was imposed on him for contempt of court. He did not appear until his fine is paid or liquidated.

Cleary aroused the ire of Judge Malone by failing to respond to a subpoena requiring his appearance as a witness in Par. III. of the Court of General Sessions yesterday. He did not report until the court was at recess, and Assistant District Attorney McCormick told him to return at 2 o'clock.

He did not show up again until this morning, and the trial of the case in which he needed could not proceed yesterday afternoon. This morning Judge Malone demanded an explanation. Cleary made no reply.

"It costs the county $500 a day to operate this court. The time of private citizens, summoned here as jurors and witnesses, is lost to them while they are in attendance on the court. It is the business of public officials to avoid causing unnecessary delays at the expense of citizens' time and the county's money. You are a public servant and your first duty is strict attention to the public's business. You stand here without offering any sort of excuse and it is my duty to punish you."

Judge Malone ordered the clerk of the court to send a transcript of the proceeding to Commissioner Cropsy for action.

Cleary's face, when he appeared in court this morning, was scratched and bruised in consequence of a tussle he had last night while attempting to arrest a negro.

John A. Carter Missing.
John A. Carter, a contractor, living at the Hotel Avon, Thirtieth street and Lexington avenue, was reported missing last night to the police of the East Thirty-fifth street station by his wife. She said that her husband had been gone since Tuesday. He is fifty years old, weighs about 165 pounds, is 5 feet 3 inches in height. His hair is light and his eyes are blue. He had with him $20 in cash and a gold watch and chain.

Maxim's, and Kid McCoy's is only a short distance away. Her cries created great excitement in the neighborhood. Policeman Burdick hurried to the house. By the time he got there six of the men had reached the street, scattered and escaped. The automobile had disappeared. Kovner was caught fleeing.

The Mrs. Stanton case is being tried in Jefferson Market Police Court this afternoon before Magistrate Preschl. Kovner was held without bail on the homicide charge and in $10,000 bail on each of the robbery charges. The other prisoners were held without bail for examination.

She ran to a window and kicked out the glass, shouting "Police! Burglars! Fire!" The house is not far from

JERSEY WILD MAN ORDERS HALT OF "FAST EXPRESS"

Panicky Passengers Pile Out to Be Asked Riddle by
"Road Agent."

The half dozen passengers on the fast express of the Morristown and Erie Railroad had all the excitement of a hold-up today without any of its dangers. The express, which consists of a retired Third Avenue Elevated Railroad locomotive and a combination baggage smoking and passenger coach, was making the second of its six trips between Essex Falls and Morristown, N. J., a distance of seven miles, when, at a point just below the town of Hanover, a man stepped out of the bushes about ten feet in front of the train.

He stood in the middle of the track, waving his hands, and Engineer George Barnett promptly threw back the throttle, bringing his engine to a stop three feet from the man, who kept on waving his hands and shouting.

Conductor Henry Ryerson and the passengers piled out of the express and approached the man, who is described as tall, thin and fairly well dressed.

"Which is stronger?" demanded the stranger, "you or the Lord?"

The passengers scratched their heads and pondered this weighty inquiry, when the man spoke up again.

"The Lord is strong enough to save," he said.

A bright individual suggested that the man must be insane. An attempt was made to capture the man, but he broke away and disappeared in the bushes.

The point where the holdup occurred is midway between the Morristown and Overbrook insane asylums, and it is believed the road agent escaped from one of these institutions.

LUNCH TO HIGH CHISHOLM.
De Lancey Nicoll Host of Encyclopedia Britannica Editor.

An informal luncheon was given today at the Downtown Association, No. 6 Pine street, to High Chisholm of London, editor of the eleventh edition of the Encyclopedia Britannica, by De Lancey Nicoll, Mr. Chisholm, who is a personal friend of Mr. Nicoll, is stopping in this city for a few days on his trip around the world.

Those who also present at the luncheon were Joseph H. Choate, Morgan J. O'Brien, John L. Chadwalder, Justice McLaughlin and Justice Dowling of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, Hart Lyman, Don C. Seitz, Charles E. Miller, Archibald R. Watson, Corporation Counsel, Richard R. Field, Rogers, William M. Tine, W. W. Fuller, Judge H. G. Ward of the United States Circuit Court, former Justice Gilchrist, James M. Beck, John M. Bowers, William D. Guthrie, T. S. Fuller, August Belmont, Henry W. Taft, Francis L. Wellman, Otto T. Barnard, Francis L. Steaton, Theodore P. Shonts and Congressman-elect Martin W. Littleton.

BOYS SAVE THREE GIRLS FROM CANAL AFTER ICE BREAKS

Eleven-Year-Old With Brother
Only Nine Are Modest Heroes in Paterson.

Eleven-year-old John Campbell and his nine-year-old brother Willie of Washington street, Paterson, found their arrival at school today a triumphal reception. Word had got around of their rescue of three little girls who had broken through the ice on the Morris Canal near the railroad bridge. Nobody knew the little girls were there, but the boys had seen the rescue and spread the news. Johnnie and Willie had not said a word, but they had to be heroes in spite of themselves.

The Campbell boys were on the bank of the canal about a hundred feet away from the railroad bridge. The boys saw three girls slip and fall into the water. They slipped and pried up each other at the end of the slide and the ice broke and they went through. The water was not very deep and by hanging on to the edges and standing on the tips of their toes they were able to keep their heads above water and to scream.

The Campbell boys were on the bank of the canal about a hundred feet away from the railroad bridge. The boys saw three girls slip and fall into the water. They slipped and pried up each other at the end of the slide and the ice broke and they went through. The water was not very deep and by hanging on to the edges and standing on the tips of their toes they were able to keep their heads above water and to scream.

He stood in the middle of the track, waving his hands, and Engineer George Barnett promptly threw back the throttle, bringing his engine to a stop three feet from the man, who kept on waving his hands and shouting.

Conductor Henry Ryerson and the passengers piled out of the express and approached the man, who is described as tall, thin and fairly well dressed.

"Which is stronger?" demanded the stranger, "you or the Lord?"

The passengers scratched their heads and pondered this weighty inquiry, when the man spoke up again.

"The Lord is strong enough to save," he said.

A bright individual suggested that the man must be insane. An attempt was made to capture the man, but he broke away and disappeared in the bushes.

The point where the holdup occurred is midway between the Morristown and Overbrook insane asylums, and it is believed the road agent escaped from one of these institutions.

LUNCH TO HIGH CHISHOLM.
De Lancey Nicoll Host of Encyclopedia Britannica Editor.

An informal luncheon was given today at the Downtown Association, No. 6 Pine street, to High Chisholm of London, editor of the eleventh edition of the Encyclopedia Britannica, by De Lancey Nicoll, Mr. Chisholm, who is a personal friend of Mr. Nicoll, is stopping in this city for a few days on his trip around the world.

Those who also present at the luncheon were Joseph H. Choate, Morgan J. O'Brien, John L. Chadwalder, Justice McLaughlin and Justice Dowling of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, Hart Lyman, Don C. Seitz, Charles E. Miller, Archibald R. Watson, Corporation Counsel, Richard R. Field, Rogers, William M. Tine, W. W. Fuller, Judge H. G. Ward of the United States Circuit Court, former Justice Gilchrist, James M. Beck, John M. Bowers, William D. Guthrie, T. S. Fuller, August Belmont, Henry W. Taft, Francis L. Wellman, Otto T. Barnard, Francis L. Steaton, Theodore P. Shonts and Congressman-elect Martin W. Littleton.

He hit her on the head with the butt of the weapon and then grabbed the ring.

She ran to a window and kicked out the glass, shouting "Police! Burglars! Fire!" The house is not far from

DOES NOT WANT TO PAY ALIMONY TO MRS. HEINZE

Former Husband of Copper Man's Wife Applies to Court for Relief.

HER STAGE AMBITION.

Report That Woman in Case,
Former Actress, Plans Return to Boards.

Formal application for relief from the $100 a week alimony he is paying to his divorced wife, Bernice Golden Henderson, who recently became the wife of Fritz Augustus Heinze, was made before Justice Gerard today by Charles A. Henderson. Henderson objects to paying for the "support and maintenance" of another man's wife, he says. The motion is opposed by Mrs. Henderson, Heinze's lawyers, Battle & Marshall.

Mrs. Heinze has planned to make her second theatrical debut on a London stage in a playlet by James A. Fagan from the novel "Belladonna," by Robert Hitchens. She is now in Mr. Clemens, Mich., where she is undergoing a mud bath treatment for nervousness. Heinze has been living here in seclusion.

The opposition to Mr. Henderson's motion leads to rumors that the newlyweds are not happy. While Mrs. Henderson's lawyers refused today to discuss the case, it is stated that Mrs. Heinze is inclined to see herself separated from the $100 a week. It is also stated that Heinze is opposed to her resuming a stage career.

Henderson's motion briefly cites the fact that his former wife has married a "millionaire mining operator" who is capable of properly caring for her needs, and he is the court to advise him of such responsibility. In another paragraph he refers to his daughter, Katherine Henderson, nine years old, now in Mrs. Heinze's possession. He expresses a willingness to make proper provision for the child and indicates his consent to have the Court fix a sum sufficient to maintain the child.

Lillian Hobart French, once an associate of Ann O'Della Diss Debar, sued Heinze for $25,000 soon after his engagement to her. The suit was announced. It is stated by friends that this cloud which hung over the Heinze-Henderson romance has never entirely disappeared from the Heinze matrimonial horizon.

CROPSY HAMMER RAPPS HEAVY FINES UPON POLICEMEN

From Five to Twenty Days'
Pay for Delinquents, With Big Penalty for "Liars."

Police Commissioner Cropsy announced today the sentences imposed on policemen who have been found guilty in recent trials. The penalties were consistent with his practice of giving a severe sentence to a policeman who is found guilty and the most severe possible in case the man tried to lie out of his trouble.

Lieut. Robert R. Craig of the Central Park station, for loitering in a back room instead of being at his desk in uniform, was fined five days' pay.

Lieut. Joseph P. Gorman of the West Thirty-seventh street station, stayed away from reserve duty and was fined five days' pay.

Lieut. Abraham W. Skidmore did not furnish a written report to the Commissioner when told to do so and was fined fifteen days' pay.

Lieut. Louis R. Rochester did not look into a complaint made by a citizen and was fined fifteen days' pay.

Numerous patrolmen who were found more or less drunk or coming from saloons when they should have been on duty were fined from ten to twenty days' pay each.

The Commissioner also announced that he had abolished the precinct known as Bridge B and had consolidated it with Bridge A. The men of both precincts occupy the same station. Bridge B was commanded until Tuesday by Capt. Cottrill, who was suspended from duty because of his unpaid debts.

Sanctuary Witness for State Bank in Note Deal.

Saul Amsterdam, real estate dealer of No. 63 Park Row and living at No. 143 Fifth street, Brooklyn, was an important witness for the State Bank against Samuel M. Katz in a civil suit for $500 on sixteen notes for which Katz had assumed sole liability, it was learned today.

Mr. Amsterdam could have paid the notes himself, he says, but as Katz, for value received, had assumed the liability, the bank held Katz alone for the face of the notes with interest.

Wonderful as it may seem, we have found a simple, harmless way to develop the bust. It is a simple, harmless way to develop the bust. It is a simple, harmless way to develop the bust. It is a simple, harmless way to develop the bust.

He hit her on the head with the butt of the weapon and then grabbed the ring.

She ran to a window and kicked out the glass, shouting "Police! Burglars! Fire!" The house is not far from

SCIENCE HEALER BACKED BY THREAT TO TEST THE LAW

Arrest for Practice of Medicine
Unconstitutional, Says
Counsel Jerome.

HITS AT CHURCH RITES.

Cole Discharged, Many Women
Followers of Cult Rush to Embrace Him.

Willie Vernon Cole, a Christian Science practitioner with offices at No. 225 Fifth avenue, was arraigned before Magistrate Preschl in Jefferson Market Court today on a charge of practicing medicine without a license. The cash, collapsed because of the failure of the complaining witnesses to appear and also because the complaint had not been signed.

The courtroom was packed with prominent Christian Scientists. Former District Attorney Jerome was present to defend Cole, a tall, good looking young man, attired in black and carrying a gold-headed cane. Two scores of fashionably dressed women were in the courtroom throng, and the majority of the men bore every evidence of prosperity. Among them was Virgil O. Strickler, First Reader of the First Church Scientist and leader of the opposition to Mrs. Stetson in that marble edifice.

Woman Furnished Evidence.
The warrant upon which Cole was arrested had been issued by Chief Magistrate McAdoo on evidence obtained by Mrs. Isabelle Goodwin, a police matron who has been active in the recent prosecution of palmists, clairvoyants and assorted varieties of soothsayers and astrologers.

Mrs. Goodwin has been backed by the County Medical Society, and when Healer Cole was arraigned today Altmuth C. Vandiver, counsel for the Society, was ready to assist in the prosecution. Vandiver was formerly an assistant on Jerome's staff.

After Lawyer Jerome had called attention to the fact that the complaint was not signed and that Mrs. Goodwin was not a doctor, the case was adjourned to the next day.

"The statutes provide that persons shall not be persecuted in the practice of their religious belief. Were the sort of prosecution here attempted sustained it would do away with all religious performances and abolish the religious belief of St. Ann and certain rites of the Jewish faith and interfere with many religious functions."

Jerome hints at prejudice. "Recently many select arrests have been made by the police—astrologers, hypnotists, fortune-tellers, clairvoyants and palmists—and somehow this one man has been singled out among the Christian Scientists, all of whom who practice their religion are as guilty as he."

"Now," continued Mr. Jerome, "if the County Medical Society wishes to get Mr. Cole at any time it will have no trouble in finding him. If this sort of prosecution is attempted we will test the constitutionality of the law under which it is tried in the highest courts in the land. The Christian Science Church is ready to make a test case of it."

When Magistrate Preschl announced that Mr. Cole had been discharged, murmurs of applause swelled through the courtroom.

Through the gate there was a rush to shake the hand and pat him on the back. For a few moments he was almost smothered with congratulations.

Several young women were on the verge of embracing him when a photographer pointed his camera toward Healer Cole and his friend. Rushing through the ranks of his friends, he sprinted past the battery of cameras and rushed up to the "L" platform of the Eighth street station.

A quick relief for coughs, colds and hoarseness is

Hale's Honey
Of Horehound and Tar

Contains no opium nor anything injurious
Try Hale's Toothache Drops

Alexander's
MEN'S SHOES

For the closing days of the sale we have grouped all reduced shoes in three lots marked

$2.75 $3.45 $3.75

Not all sizes in every style, but all sizes in the lot.
Best bargains are in narrow sizes.

ANDREW ALEXANDER
SIXTH AVE. AT 19TH ST., NEW YORK

GIRL-MOTHER STOLE TO BUY FOOD FOR STARVING BABY

Arrested, She Told a Pitiful Story of Struggle Which Gained Court's Sympathy.

Mrs. Jennie Callahan, nineteen years old, of No. 532 Warren street, Brooklyn, was arraigned in the Butler Street Police Court today charged with stealing the contents of her neighbor, Mrs.
Nellie Pearson and stealing a bracelet and ring.

The young woman, who was weak and emaciated, told a pitiful story of the struggle of her husband and herself to keep starvation from their home. She had a one-year-old infant in her arms.

Her husband John, she said, earns $5 a week operating a spotlight in a Brooklyn theatre. They pay $10 a month rent and $12 a week on their furniture. The husband's expenses eat up another $1 a week. This leaves $3 a week for coal, light, food and clothing. Recently the husband had to provide himself with a pair of shoes and an overcoat, which imposed another burden of debt upon them.

The young woman had a key which opened the Pearson flat. There was no food in her own home for herself or baby. Her husband had gone hungry to work.

"I thought I would find something to eat in Mrs. Pearson's flat," said Mrs. Callahan. I went in and found the bracelet and ring.

The will of Mrs. Augusta Corrie, widow of Heinrich Corrie, which was filed yesterday in the Surrogate's office by her brother, Frederick W. Sperling, one of her executors, leaves to her son, Richard G. Corrie, all her household furniture, horses, carriages and other effects, a monthly legacy of $150,000, and in addition the residue of her estate after legacies have been paid. He is also appointed executor with Mr. Sperling.

Best Dressed Woman Dead
ST. LOUIS, Jan. 25.—Mrs. John W. Lander, known as the best dressed woman in St. Louis, died yesterday. She had been ill since last September, when she collapsed at Palm Beach from what seemed to be a nervous disorder, and since October had been almost constantly unconscious. She had tumor on the brain and pneumonia developed yesterday.

It was Mrs. Lander's taste and quick eye which enabled her to win her title. Most of her gowns she made herself. She declared that no woman should require more than forty-five minutes for the most fashionable toilet.

The time of times to save many dollars. When you consider the many, many weeks of cold weather yet to come, and that you are getting a $10 or $15 garment for $5; it certainly looks like opportunity—and it is. Many styles to choose from besides the stunning black jersey coat illustrated. Materials including mixtures, chevrons and black cloths.

Sale at All Three Stores
The Winter's
Greatest
$5 Sale
$10-$15 Coats
$5

To-morrow, Friday, Jan. 27th
The time of times to save many dollars. When you consider the many, many weeks of cold weather yet to come, and that you are getting a $10 or $15 garment for $5; it certainly looks like opportunity—and it is. Many styles to choose from besides the stunning black jersey coat illustrated. Materials including mixtures, chevrons and black cloths.

Sale at All Three Stores
The Winter's
Greatest
$5 Sale
$10-$15 Coats
$5

To-morrow, Friday, Jan. 27th
The time of times to save many dollars. When you consider the many, many weeks of cold weather yet to come, and that you are getting a $10 or $15 garment for $5; it certainly looks like opportunity—and it is. Many styles to choose from besides the stunning black jersey coat illustrated. Materials including mixtures, chevrons and black cloths.

Sale at All Three Stores
The Winter's
Greatest
$5 Sale
$10-$15 Coats
$5

To-morrow, Friday, Jan. 27th
The time of times to save many dollars. When you consider the many, many weeks of cold weather yet to come, and that you are getting a $10 or $15 garment for $5; it certainly looks like opportunity—and it is. Many styles to choose from besides the stunning black jersey coat illustrated. Materials including mixtures, chevrons and black cloths.

Sale at All Three Stores
The Winter's
Greatest
$5 Sale
$10-$15 Coats
$5

To-morrow, Friday, Jan. 27th
The time of times to save many dollars. When you consider the many, many weeks of cold weather yet to come, and that you are getting a $10 or $15 garment for $5; it certainly looks like opportunity—and it is. Many styles to choose from besides the stunning black jersey coat illustrated. Materials including mixtures, chevrons and black cloths.

Sale at All Three Stores
The Winter's
Greatest
$5 Sale
$10-$15 Coats
$5

To-morrow, Friday, Jan. 27th
The time of times to save many dollars. When you consider the many, many weeks of cold weather yet to come, and that you are getting a $10 or $15 garment for $5; it certainly looks like opportunity—and it is. Many styles to choose from besides the stunning black jersey coat illustrated. Materials including mixtures, chevrons and black cloths.

let and ring. I took them and pawned them. But the money I got soon took wings and we were soon as desperately off as before. I went again into Mrs. Pearson's flat and the detectives were waiting for me. Send me and my baby to prison, Judge; we will at least find warmth there. The policemen food and drink were very kind to us. They bought us food and milk and kept us warm. They never said a harsh word to me, and treated me as if I were an honest woman. My poor husband does his best, but we barely exist."

Magistrate Voechies was greatly moved by the young woman's story. He would not entertain a charge against her for the present and paroled her to the custody of his probation officer, Mrs. Gibson. It is not thought likely that Mrs. Pearson will press the complaint and an effort will be made by the Magistrate to put the family on its feet.

Best Dressed Woman Dead
ST. LOUIS, Jan. 25.—Mrs. John W. Lander, known as the best dressed woman in St. Louis, died yesterday. She had been ill since last September, when she collapsed at Palm Beach from what seemed to be a nervous disorder, and since October had been almost constantly unconscious. She had tumor on the brain and pneumonia developed yesterday.

It was Mrs. Lander's taste and quick eye which enabled her to win her title. Most of her gowns she made herself. She declared that no woman should require more than forty-five minutes for the most fashionable toilet.

The will of Mrs. Augusta Corrie, widow of Heinrich Corrie, which was filed yesterday in the Surrogate's office by her brother, Frederick W. Sperling, one of her executors, leaves to her son, Richard G. Corrie, all her household furniture, horses, carriages and other effects, a monthly legacy of $150,000, and in addition the residue of her estate after legacies have been paid. He is also appointed executor with Mr. Sperling.

Best Dressed Woman Dead
ST. LOUIS, Jan. 25.—Mrs. John W. Lander, known as the best dressed woman in St. Louis, died yesterday. She had been ill since last September, when she collapsed at Palm Beach from what seemed to be a nervous disorder, and since October had been almost constantly unconscious. She had tumor on the brain and pneumonia developed yesterday.

It was Mrs. Lander's taste and quick eye which enabled her to win her title. Most of her gowns she made herself. She declared that no woman should require more than forty-five minutes for the most fashionable toilet.

The will of Mrs. Augusta Corrie, widow of Heinrich Corrie, which was filed yesterday in the Surrogate's office by her brother, Frederick W. Sperling, one of her executors, leaves to her son, Richard G. Corrie, all her household furniture, horses, carriages and other effects, a monthly legacy of $150,000, and in addition the residue of her estate after legacies have been paid. He is also appointed executor with Mr. Sperling.

Best Dressed Woman Dead
ST. LOUIS, Jan. 25.—Mrs. John W. Lander, known as the best dressed woman in St. Louis, died yesterday. She had been ill since last September, when she collapsed at Palm Beach from what seemed to be a nervous disorder, and since October had been almost constantly unconscious. She had tumor on the brain and pneumonia developed yesterday.

It was Mrs. Lander's taste and quick eye which enabled her to win her title. Most of her gowns she made herself. She declared that no woman should require more than forty-five minutes for the most fashionable toilet.

The will of Mrs. Augusta Corrie, widow of Heinrich Corrie, which was filed yesterday in the Surrogate's office by her brother, Frederick W. Sperling, one of her executors, leaves to her son, Richard G. Corrie, all her household furniture, horses, carriages and other effects, a monthly legacy of $150,000, and in addition the residue of her estate after legacies have been paid. He is also appointed executor with Mr. Sperling.

Best Dressed Woman Dead
ST. LOUIS, Jan. 25.—Mrs. John W. Lander, known as the best dressed woman in St. Louis, died yesterday. She had been ill since last September, when she collapsed at Palm Beach from what seemed to be a nervous disorder, and since October had been almost constantly unconscious. She had tumor on the brain and pneumonia developed yesterday.

</